OTHER SIDE: Registered Apprenticeships & Internships

Registered Apprenticeships

Registered Apprenticeship Occupations

There are many types of occupations that currently have registered apprenticeships, including (but not limited to):

Construction & Labor	Manufacturing	Automotive	Communications
Culinary	Healthcare	IT	Office Admin
Education	Transportation	Production	Customer Service

Registered Apprenticeship Locations

Apprentices can be stationed at all kinds of organizations, including privately owned businesses, corporations, and unions. Union work covers large geographical areas, and workers may be dispatched all over. Classroom education takes place at a central training center; there are several in the Sacramento area.

How to Get a Registered Apprenticeship

Start by visiting the resources under "Find Registered Apprenticeships". Either find an open position or locate the organization that provides the apprenticeship. Go through their application process, which may include an online application, exams, and an interview. Pre-apprenticeships make it easier to get an apprenticeship by providing foundational knowledge.
